Cherry, Ills., Nov. 15 .- Shortly befere noon hope was all but abandoned by the relatives of the 300 or more greatest mine disaster in the history

That not one man of the hundreds entombed in the St. Paul Coal company's mine will be taken from it alive, was the opinion of those on the scene. At 10:30 a.m., President Newsam, of the state board of examing engineers, said a rescuing and expioring party had been unable to pentom of the main shaft because of the smoke and that no bodies had been discovered.

We are preparing to start the fan and then expect revelations," he said. The oxygen helmets of the rescuers were useless in the smoke and gas choked chambers.
